Supply List – Making Reproduction Quilts

Quilter will need (1) of the quilt patterns from the series Nineteenth Century Nine Patch Quilts by Reproduction Quilts -- available in class $10.00

Class Description

The Nine Patch block is one of the earliest documented blocks in American quilt history. Although easy to make, fabric choice and setting style can make this block extremely versatile while still authentically reproducing a 19th century quilt. We'll have lots of fun playing with a wide variety of bright and authentic colors and fabrics! Your fabric choices will result in a very elegant early 1800's quilt or a more utilitarian late century quilt.

We will learn to date reproduction fabrics and determine which ones were popular in each decade. Then, use speed techniques to make scrappy nine-patch blocks. Finally, each person will select a design and setting style and will create a quilt appropriate to 1824 (Nine Patch Medallion 89" X 92"), 1849 (Nine Patch Strippy 82" X 92"), 1875 (Nine Patch Plaid 51" X 76") or 1894 (Nine Patch Bordered 68" X 95").

Supply List

Basic sewing equipment including straight stitch sewing machine, rotary cutter tools (mat, cutter, rulers), pins, scissors.

Fabric: An assortment of small amounts of fabrics (1/4 yard each or less) that are appropriate for making a 19th century quilt. Nine Patch Medallion and Nine Patch Strippy quilt fabrics may include turkey reds, poison greens, Prussian blues, madders, brownish purples, ombres, and pillar prints. Nine Patch Plaid also uses homespuns. Nine Patch Bordered includes clarets, chambray blues and lots of shirtings. If you don't know these terms -- don't worry. Bring your favorite reproduction fabrics and we'll identify them in class.
